RAISE YOUR EXPECTATIONS!

Rome Madison is an author and expert on innovation. His consulting firm, The Superstar Academy, works with medical sales organizations to identify patterns of complacency that gradually result in loss of revenue and market share, and applies strategies to build a culture that promotes competition and sales excellence.

Rome is a former SVP who recruited and lead superstar sales professionals and executives in the life sciences industry. Rome is an expert voice who helps start-ups and big pharma build and train sales teams in the precision medicine industry. He has become a leading voice in preparing the industry workforce as this area of medicine grows.

THE SALES ELITE: WHY SUPERSTAR SALES PROFESSIONALS HAVE NO COMPETITION

In this 50min keynote Rome explains what is required of leadership and individual contributors to fight for higher goals, increased revenue and winning the title of market leader in your industry.

You will learn:

- Why people buy you before they buy anything else you have.
- How to be brutally honest without being brutal.
- The dynamic effect of habits and how to leverage them for your success.
- A daily question to keep you focused on the larger vision you create for yourself

WINNING INFLUENCE: HOW TO LEAD WITHOUT THE TITLE

There's a big difference between management and leadership. Most employees will follow you if a paycheck depends on it, but developing leadership skills to influence others helps you build a professional brand that will pay residual dividends in your career regardless of title or position.

This presentation is approved for 1.5hrs Strategic Re-Certification Credits for SHRM and HRCI. It can also be delivered as a keynote presentation.

You will learn:

- The importance of your professional brand.
- How to gain permission from others to lead them.
- How to demonstrate leadership capacity among peers and as a young professional.
- How to create momentum that gets you noticed by leaders & executives.
- How to ace the ultimate test of leadership before being hired or promoted.

THE SUPERSTAR SALES ACADEMY

There's a reason top sales performers stay at the top, while the majority are inconsistent mid-level performers. It's less about talent and ability; it's about skill development and daily habits!

A few of the habits include:

- Self Mastery
- Critical Thinking
- Focus on Big Results & Big Money
- Listening for 'Yes'
- Much, much more!

This is a half-to-full day sales workshop to help your team actively incorporate the skills and habits of elite Superstar Sales Professionals. This is an interactive session that uses improv, competition and the creativity of your team to inspire growth and set bigger goals.

Even award-winning sales reps need to improve. They demand and expect the best to help them grow and Rome Madison is a voice elite sales professionals recognize and follow!
